Press release

Economic Club of Dallas Welcomes David Rubenstein for Conversation on Business, Investing and Leadership

October 8, 2026 | Dallas, Texas

The Economic Club of Dallas welcomed David Rubenstein, Co-Founder and Co-Chairman of The Carlyle Group and Chairman of the Economic Club of Washington, D.C., for a conversation moderated by Sarah Ketterer, CEO of Causeway Capital Management and Board and Founding Member of the Economic Club of Dallas.

Drawing on his remarkable career in business and investing, Rubenstein shared perspectives on leadership, philanthropy and building one of the world's leading investment firms. The conversation also touched on his involvement in professional sports as principal owner of Major League Baseball's Baltimore Orioles, offering a glimpse into another dimension of his business interests.

The evening reflected the Club's commitment to convening influential leaders for substantive conversations and the exchange of ideas. Held under the Chatham House Rule, Economic Club of Dallas programs encourage candid dialogue and thoughtful discussion among members and distinguished guests.

The Club extends its appreciation to Rubenstein for sharing his experiences and to Ketterer for leading an engaging conversation.

About the Economic Club of Dallas

The Economic Club of Dallas connects, informs and empowers global business leaders. Based in one of the nation's fastest-growing economic centers, the Club convenes CEOs, entrepreneurs and influential decision-makers for candid conversations on the forces shaping business, markets and society. Through carefully curated programs and a distinguished membership, the Club fosters the exchange of ideas and relationships among leaders driving economic growth and innovation.

Media Contact:
Economic Club of Dallas
Admin@econclubdallas.org